REARDON GETS MACKAN POST

Named Police Captain for 30-Day Period, Kirts Becomes Sergeant

ACT TO FILL VACANCIES

Petitions To Raise Funds for Return of Furloughed Patrolmen Are Circulated.

Sergeant Louis F Reardon today was named day police captain under a temporary appointment by Service Safety Director John V Ruth to fill the vacancy caused when Captain L C Mackan yesterday began a 30-day leave of absence

Reardon's post as day desk sergeant will be filled by Patrolman Louis L Kirts one of four men recently laid off from the department who was called back to duty last night when Mackan went on leave Kirts was assigned to desk duty by Chief W E Marks

Both Reardon and Kirts will serve under temporary appointments with permanent appointments depending on whether Mackan returns to duty at the end of his leave or severs his connection with the force

Reardon has been a member of the department 10 years He joined the force as night desk sergeant and about six years ago became day sergeant

Petitions Started

In the meantime, actual steps to place at least two of the three remaining furloughed policemen back on the force were taken this morning when petitions were circulated among merchants and other business men in an effort to raise money for their salaries Whether two or three men will be returned to duty will depend on response of the merchants and business men W D Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce said

The petitions prepared by the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce were placed in circulation this morning by Clyde Hardin Homer C Osmun and Louis Cunningham the three policemen now on furlough

The petitions ask for monthly contributions for at least a three-month period of amounts not to exceed $1 50 Mr Brown estimated that at least 700 places including stores offices and other business houses would be contacted by the solicitors

Committee in Charge

While the plan has been sponsored by the Chamber retail merchants committee actual details have been worked out by a committee composed of Harold Carroll chairman Harry O Crawbaugh Homer Waddell J W Llewellyn A L Bintz P E Burns Oscar Lusch and George L Underwood Future collection of pledges will be arranged by the committee Mr Brown said as civil service rules will prevent the policemen from doing this after they have been returned to the force

Should only two men be returned through the plan those called back will be Hardin and Osmun as they are next in line after Kirts in point of service

FRANCE SUMMONS ENVOYS TO PARLEY

Plans To Make Strong Case Against Hitler's Remilitarization of Rhineland

By The Associated Press

PARIS April 2—France massed her diplomatic resources today for a counter attack against Germany's Locarno plan

Foreign Minister Pierre Etienne Flandin summoned the French ambassadors in London Berlin Brussels and Rome to come to Paris for a two fold campaign

French officials said that the French government probably will ask for a speedy conference with Great Britain Italy and Belgium and will enter the conference with the demand that Reichsfuehrer Hitler proposals be rejected

First informed sources said the government resolved to represent a strong attitude against Germany's violation of the Locarno pact by remilitarization of the Rhineland until after France's parliamentary elections April 26 and May 3

Second these sources said the government would employ tactics of delay while searching for a peace plan more favorable to France

While waiting for the ambassadors to arrive Flandin and Premier Albert Sarraut analyzed the German proposals in preparation for a cabinet meeting tomorrow

The stern opposition to Germany's treaty breach came informed sources said while rightest leaders were utilizing the government's failure to punish Germany as evidence that Hitler had outmaneuvered France

Under a new peace plan these sources said France would seek especially a method for limiting German fortifications in the Rhineland

Such fortifications if constructed would make it difficult for France to aid her allies comprising the ring of steel around Germany

French sources saw Hitler's proposals for a new peace system as a cunning plan to split the Locarno powers and to make der fuehrer dictator of Europe

The formation of Labor's Non Partisan league and the start of its drive came in the thick of Republican activity including the important New York primaries the Maine convention and the filing of petitions for both Sen Borah of Idaho and Gov Alf M Landon of Kansas in the New Jersey presidential preference primary

Berry agreed that his league would be a medium for A F of L support for Mr Roosevelt Only once has the federation indorsed a presidential candidate—in the case of Robert M La Follette in 1924

One of the first of the strategic moves designed to line up labor behind the administration was Berry's dispatch of several thousand letters to union leaders

Business Brands Tax Bill Share-the-Wealth Plan

Manufacturers' Leader Labels Proposal Unsound and Wants Action Postponed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON April 2—American business as represented by the National Association of Manufacturers assailed the new $7,800,000,000 tax program before the house ways and means committee today as a new chart for the wealth program in disguise

Noel Sargent secretary of the organization suggested that congress postpone action on a completely unsound tax plan that would invite speculation penalize pick up thrift and cause many bankruptcies and in the meantime create a special commission to determine what changes are needed in existing tax policies

Present Capital Storing

We submit Sargent said that a tax program which penalizes and discourages the retention of adequate funds for working capital is completely unsound that not only would this pending measure tend to reduce working capital as well as reserves but it would tend to prevent accumulation of increased working capital needed to provide for increased work and employment

Sargent agreed the new tax plan would lead to force distribution of corporation earnings in dividends but asserted the results would be harmful instead of beneficial

His fourth of the plan is a new tax on corporation income principally according to percentage of profit retained for reserves

His senate finance committee counterpart called upon to decide between two plans for curbing war profits One put forward by the munitions committee chaired by Sen Nye Republican of North Dakota would levy a 90 per cent tax on all individual war time income over $10,000 a year

Only Excess Incomes

The rival suggestion was that the 90 per cent tax should apply only to the income in excess of the average income The individual received in the three years prior to a war

Administration leaders turned thumbs down on a resolution by Sen Davis Republican of Pennsylvania for a broad inquiry into WPA and PWA They said two senate committees already planned to inquire into aspects of the relief situation

With Sen Vandenberg Republican of Michigan persisting in his demand that AAA furnish a list of those who have received farm benefit payments of more than $10,000 in a year Secretary Wallace jokingly replied that kidnapers might abduct farmers daughters if this were done More seriously, he said he would be "quite agreeable to compiling the list if it did not interfere with the task of getting out checks to farmers who controlled production in 1935 Previously AAA had said compiling the list would delay the other work

NEW DEAL FOE MUST BE NAMED, SAYS TAFT

Claims Action Is Necessary To Avert Revolution Which Is "Being Attempted"

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI O April 2 The Republican candidate for President said Robert A Taft Ohio Republican favorite son for the nomination must be 100 per cent against the new deal

Addressing Hamilton county members of the party opening their primary and a number of nationally known Republicans who attend a rally last night Taft declared four years from now may be too late to prevent the revolution which he said is being attempted

Four years more of Roosevelt Taft continued means a complete domination of this country by government bureaucracy The supreme court declared that unlimited delegation of power is unconstitutional But any skilful lawyer can draft legislation delegating under general rules all the power which the most avid bureaucrat can desire to exercise

With greater care and with a new supreme court four years more of Roosevelt means that the lives and activities of each of us will be subject to the uncontrolled discretion of government officials

A situation arising from a gas filled sewer, thought to have resulted when a railroad gasoline tank car upset near the Grand avenue crossing at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, was clearing up here today.

More than 50 complaints that gasoline fumes were filling basements along the line of the Silver street and George street sewer were made at the office of Service-Safety Director John V. The tank car overturned as an Erie yard crew was switching a cut of cars at the switch leading into Old Fort Mills soy bean plant near Grand avenue. The tank car containing 10,000 gallons of gasoline, was consigned to the Standard Oil Co. plant here

2,500 Gallons Spilled

Standard Oil officials this morning said that approximately 2,500 gallons of gasoline were spilled when the car upset.

Erie officials today said the car overturned after one set of trucks left the track on the soy bean plant switch. Gasoline, gushed out of several leaks opened by the strain on the car. The flow was not stopped until some time later when

JURY SUMMONS BOTH WILENTZ AND GOVERNOR

Reports Also Heard Condon Will Be Called In Investigation of Wendel 'Confession'

PARKER WAITS TO TESTIFY

Hoffman Accused of Blocking Probe of Alleged Assault on Lindbergh Estate Servant.

(Copyright 1936 Associated Press)

TRENTON N J April 2 The Mercer county second jury which saved Bruno Richard Hauptmann's life Tuesday night called Gov Harold G Hoffman to testify today and the belief grew swiftly that Hauptmann again would escape the electric chair tomorrow night

The jury investigating charges that Paul H Wendel rather than Hauptmann committed the crime of the Sourland hills for which Hauptmann has been sentenced to die also summoned to hear Attorney General David T Wilentz the Hauptmann prosecutor and there were unconfirmed reports that Dr John F Condon the Lindbergh ransom intermediary also would be called

Jury Resumes Inquiry

The jury plunged into its renewed consideration of the Wendel case while charges were popping that Gov Hoffman was blocking efforts to probe an alleged assault on the caretaker at the Lindbergh abandoned Hopewell estate the place of the Lindbergh baby kidnaping yesterday

Awaiting a call before the jury was Ellis Parker, the Burlington county detective chief whose private investigation of the Lindbergh baby murder led to the Wendel arrest A guard stood beside Parker to prevent his talking with other witnesses while he was waiting to enter the jury room

Dr Carroll F Jones, superintendent of the state colony for feeble minded at New Lisbon where Wendel spent four weeks prior to being turned over to Mercer county authorities late Saturday night testified briefly He produced a statement signed by Wendel in which Wendel said he was entering the hospital voluntarily

Hauck Hits at Hoffman

Anthony M Hauck Jr, the Hunterdon county prosecutor who was chief assistant to Wilentz in the Hauptmann prosecution at Flemington last year charged at the state house that Gov Hoffman was blocking his efforts to learn who committed an alleged assault and battery yesterday upon Joseph Lyons the caretaker at the Lindbergh estate near Hopewell

Hauck said five men visited the estate yesterday in defiance of demands by Lyons that they get out When they left Hauck said, they drove their car so that the caretaker was forced to leap from its path or be run down

An effort to learn from the state motor vehicle department who owned the car in which the five intruders rode was met with the statement that Gov Hoffman had taken the record of registration from there and it could be obtained only from him

Hauptmann Sleeps Soundly

While these developments were breaking Hauptmann himself was just awakening from an 11 hour sleep

Guards said he retired at 10 30 o'clock last night, falling asleep immediately and hardly stirring during the night. He appeared greatly refreshed, the guards said and confident that he would not die at 8 o'clock tomorrow night

The jury, at whose request the Hauptmann execution was halted Tuesday night by Warden Mark O. Kimberling, is expected to reach a decision on an indictment before 8 o'clock execution hour tomorrow.

May Delay It Again

Should the jury still be considering the Wendel case when that hour comes, Col. Kimberling intends to postpone the execution again, utilizing to its fullest extent, if need be, his authority to execute Hauptmann any time during "the week of March 30."

The Wendel case was the principal pin on which Hauptmann's hopes were hung.

Detective Parker was ready to answer any further questions the grand jury might ask. He testified at some length at Monday's 11-hour session.

Erwin Marshall, the Mercer county prosecutor who was opposed to hasty action on the Wendel case, had several witnesses of his own he hoped to take before the jurors. It was within the jury's power, however, to disregard the prosecutor, as it has done from the outset of the Wendel inquiry.

SENATOR AGAIN HITS AT HEARST

Publisher Replies by Calling Lawmaker "Prize Polecat of His Committee."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 2—Renewing his attack upon William Randolph Hearst Sen Schwellenbach, Democrat of Washington yesterday accused the publisher of shaping his editorial policies to fit the views of big advertisers and contrasted his private life with his "newspaper wage policy."

At San Simeon, Cal Hearst issued the following statement in reply.

"Sen Schwellenbach is not making charges. He is avoiding charges He is evading issues. He is confessing guilt. He is hiding behind a cuttlefish cloud of blackguard vituperation and falsification.

"He is the prize polecat of his polecat committee. His speech, as Shakespeare says, 'is a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing.'"

To Resume Parleys

The senate lobby committee target of a Hearst injunction suit and of vehement criticism in Hearst editorial columns, will resume its investigation Monday, with an officer of the Crusaders, an anti-new deal organization, on the witness stand.

Schwellenbach, a member of the committee, reiterated charges on the senate floor that numerous personal documents had been stolen and published in Hearst papers. He blamed Hearst editorials in part for the assassination of President McKinley.

Schwellenbach pictured Hearst arriving at Topeka, Kan., in a private car to "talk with Gov Landon about the presidential campaign, and at the same time 'grinding down' his employes to the point of a reporter's strike in Milwaukee."

"Rolling in Luxury"

"The sage of San Simeon was coming to Topeka," said Schwellenbach, "to [illegible] a private war [illegible] and a new President for the people of the country, while his employes in Milwaukee, a comparatively few miles away, were living under conditions brought about by his own urgings to give them more than $15 a week for beginners or more than $27 a week for those who had been employed by that paper not less than seven years.

"He was grinding down those employes and at the same time riding around in luxurious parlor cars visiting the great economizer, the great man to balance the budget for us—just as Mr. Hearst balanced the budget for the Wisconsin News."

"The thing that really brought down the wrath of Mr Hearst upon this committee was the fact that Mr. Hopson (Howard C. Hopson of the Associated Gas & Electric Co. gave Mr Hearst's papers about twice as much advertising money as was given to any other paper in the country, and that from time to time Mr Hopson would write Mr Hearst a thought about an editorial, and one or two days later that editorial would appear in Hearst papers of the country."

CAPUDINE RELIEVES and RELAXES

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Sty.

MANY PERSONS suffer from inflammation and infection of the eyelids. This is often the case if the health is poor. Prolonged irritation of the eyes from exposure to dust and winds will cause trouble.

The doctors give one of these annoying infections a big name "hordeolum." But you and I recognize it by the familiar name "sty."

If you have never had one you are lucky. It is a painful, annoying and disfiguring affliction.

I am often asked what causes a sty. Like any other pimple or a boil, the sty is the result of infection with pus germs or bacteria. These germs reach the eyelid through contact with soiled or contaminated fingers, a handkerchief or other object. Rubbing the eye makes possible the infection.

Many tiny glands are located along the margins of the eyelids. These have comparatively large openings which are likely to harbor germs and dirt. If the tissues are broken by rubbing, then there may be the formation of a small abscess.

The victim first notices redness and some discomfort of the eyelid, which soon becomes swollen. The swelling may be so great as completely to close the eye.

Close examination of the eye shows a small, yellow, elevated spot in the center of the swelling. If this little abscess ruptures pus escapes from this point.

When the pus oozes out, the swelling and pain diminish. But unfortunately, similar infection may occur at another spot along the margin of the eyelid. This is the beginning of a "crop" of sties.

It is wise to have a hordeolum or sty lanced by your physician. Prior to that, it is best to apply hot boric acid solution. This will hasten the 'pointing' of the infection. Never squeeze the sty as this spreads the infection.

Continue with the hot applications of boric acid solution after the sty is opened. Be careful about the discharge burning the soiled cotton or gauze.

Your doctor may prescribe an ointment to be applied to the margins of the infected eyelid before retiring. This is cleansed off with warm boric acid solution upon arising in the morning. This treatment is continued until all redness and irritation of the eyelids have disappeared.

Garrett had just been transferred from Albany to Newark and was making an official flight to Buffalo, via Scranton and Elmira. Stops were made in those two cities but no passengers were picked up.

WPA GROUP GIVES FLOOD RELIEF FUND

Collection of $15 Contributed by Women at Sewing Circle.

A fund of $15, consisting of contributions from the women at the Marion county sewing center on North State street, helped swell the city's quota to Marion county's Red Cross flood relief fund.

The collection, taken recently, was turned over to Mrs. Jennie Crane, supervisor of the center, who turned it in to the Red Cross headquarters. "We were all glad to be of a service in this way and we hope it will be used where most needed," were the sentiments expressed by one of the women. The center is the county's largest WPA project for women.

4 inches FAT off Hips

Or we refund your money

We know of only one preparation which actually makes banana fat disappear. We recommend Korjena because it acts only on fatty tissues changing the fat into liquid and through daily elimination you get rid of it. Simply take one tiny Korjena Tablet after each meal, eat what you want, but moderately. Results will amaze you. Ugly rolls of fat disappear where most prominent. You lose that bloated distressed feeling, no more puffing at slight exertion. Soon you begin to feel better, look younger, you are more active delighted in knowing you are getting rid of that ugly fat.

Mrs. Millard Brunges, 709 W. 26th St. Erie, Pa., writes "Korjena is wonderful for taking that loose fat away. I lost 18 pounds, feel fine, full of pep and now I am happy."

Korjena Tablets are HARMLESS and gently yet very effective. If over-weight we urge you to try this marvelous way of reducing. Surprise your friends by becoming more slender. The cost of Korjena is trifling. Ask us today about this remarkable treatment.

Dicky Resolves to Inform State Troopers of Jack Leslie's Accomplice

STEADY GIRL and quiet Dicky, a voice had an imperative note coupled with an apprehensive one as I shrilled that he wasn't going up to the shack where as Mrs Tiger had reported were two desperadoes spying upon the far house to determine whether m father was really ill as we were pretending or whether he was the truth he was far away upon a secret and dangerous mission for the government

He took down m, clutching hands from his shoulders and looked up east, up and down the road

It's one thing my dear he said with sternness that held tenderness for you to tell me this story with lowered tones It's another to yell out that I'm not going up there and grab me as if I were going to desert you at the altar If those birds up there have keen ears and their field glasses turned this way they probably have a pretty good idea of what we're chinning about

Oh Dicky I said faintly feeling as if I were about to slip away from consciousness so acute was my horror at the picture he was painting The next instant he had taken hold of my arm with fingers that gripped and hurt

Don't you dare faint he said savagely but I did no resent the tone for I knew as well as he that I must keep up at least until we were safely within the shelter of four walls Don't you know you little idiot that I don't mean I'm going up there at least not right away and never without enough men with me to make those birds fall down curses on the day they were born?

Youre sure I said coming slowly up from the gulf of blackness into which I had felt I was descending

I pon my honor he said simply I only meant that something must be done about those birds and pronto I must get in touch with dad's men This is too secret a job for the state police We don't want them to know anything about it I wish old Harry were here

I suppose he could find out about them I ventured

Ill radio the cock eyed universe he could he retorted But he and Lil are getting here as fast as they can so well try to carry on until then Well is your tale all told?

That one is I said

What another yarn? he exclaimed flamboyantly and I knew that he was trying to make me forget my terror You'll be giving cards and spades to old Scheherazade if you don't look out Who's the villain of this particular story?

Some man evidently an accomplice of Jack Leslie I said and was gratified when Dicky's face stiffened

Well I'll be— he said consigning his soul to eternal punishment Tell me everything quickly

Madge Is Tearful

I told him exactly what Mrs Tiger had told me and at the end he was frowning deeply

"He must be the bird that got away he said He's the one that gave you such a scare

That's what I thought I answered and Dicky fell silent again

"Well, here's something that can be attended to with neatness and dispatch" he said at last, and turning the ignition key, started the engine.

"What are you going to do" I asked apprehensively.

"Nothing—until after dinner," he answered turning to smile at me before he should guide the car into the road "Then I'm going as fast as I can travel to the headquarters of the state troopers and to the Southampton jail. I want to get a line on what Leslie is doing and whether he's had any communications from the outside world

"For all we know he may be issuing daily instructions to his little pal on the outside They can't keep the capering cockroach incommunicado you know, however beneficial it might be to everybody else"

Some Republicans are saving the country by stalwartly labeling Sen. Borah as a leftist, while he contributes his lota by growling patriotically at the rightists. Naturally Democrats cannot be kept in the cold so Sen. Glass appears to belong to the starboard side, while President Roosevelt is found on the port. Not to be outdone, Socialists are adding to the confusion.

Reports from a conference in New York indicate the Socialist party is about to attain a dignity parallel to that of the two old line groups if the existence of factions confers such dignity. Charging that the national Socialist executive committee led by left winger Norman Thomas and supported by his sheep-like followers has illegally suspended carloads of rightist members and made treaties with the Communists, the old guard is calling upon the "workers to save the party. Vigorous action must be taken to suppress the up starts to give true party members representation at the coming convention and to lead the party back to the parliamentary principles upon which it was founded. Where has that been heard before?

At long range it is difficult to pass upon the niceties of this latest political stew. It appears however to have most of the odors and ingredients of old line mulligan. Perhaps the Socialists are growing up.

Getting Out the Vote.

From now until the 5th Tuesday next November politicians and idealists a strange combination, will worry about getting out the vote. The result of their efforts will be perhaps as high as a 50 per cent turnout, which will be a considerable achievement.

That would be disgracefully small for the many which hold a plebiscite last Sunday with virtually an 100 per cent turnout. Hitler has apparently has discovered a formula as a mocking complete purification in elections. The method is simple.

It consists in open employment of coercion and removal of the elements of choice from the voting. Qualified electors are forced to go to the polls by the Nazi party. They are forced to vote for the Nazi party when they get to the polls. They are persuaded as completely as possible by propagandists that they are doing the thing which is best for them and their nation by affirming a decision made for them in advance by their political leaders.

They are roused to enthusiasm by every means available to a government which controls all agencies of communication. Everything possible is done to keep them in a highly emotional state. The ballot is used as an outlet for a deliberately created pressure of nationalistic fervor. The result is testimony for the case against the hysteria which characterizes dictatorial government. It is testimony also for the case occasionally argued in the United States by calm thinkers who believe that voters should go to the polls or stay away, according to their interest. Getting out the vote in other words is not necessarily a contribution to good government. Frequently it is used for the opposite effect.

How Goes the War?

While Europe trembles in dread of another war. It is fighting one, a fact reduced to inconsequentiality by the great potentialities of the continental situation. It is almost a surprise indeed to discover that men still are killing each other in Ethiopia so completely has the Italian invasion been neglected in the excitement of more important matters.

It has been a month since Italy celebrated the complete rout of its ancient enemy but the war strangely goes on. The city of Harar second only to Addis Ababa in size was peppered with bombs this week. An Italian offensive in Ogaden province is reported in the stage of preparation. Apparently Ethiopians who didn't have the advantage of knowing what Italian generals thought about them have not heard yet of the rout.

The war goes on. So does time and in a few more weeks the invaders will be playing cards while waiting for the rains to stop some time next fall. Not even Italy's doughty generals claim they can complete their project of destruction before the rainy season. Ethiopians, on the other hand, deny categorically the project is playing right into their hands.

In any event it seems probable the Ethiopian war still will be going on during at least a part of the year 1937. Perhaps by that time the world will be able to spare some attention to it.

The Ax.

Things are not what they seem—especially when the searchlight is turned on Washington.

Frequently in the last few months will publicized bulletins from the capitol have suggested the President was at last committed to retrenchment in federal spending. Budgetary estimates and apparently criticisms of particular items helped to father this impression. The CCC was to be cut, slicing of the WPA was to be cut and then Mr. Roosevelt had vetoed the bonus.

Facts culled behind the scenes paint a different picture. Regardless of the President's sincerity in this economy trend it appears that legislators do not feel unduly hampered. First they passed the bonus then they successfully resisted the attack upon the CCC. Not content with this record the senate has boosted house approved supply measures by a grand total of $153,733,980. Departments of agriculture, war, interior and treasury, postoffice have been beneficiaries of this generosity.

So the story goes of reinstatements being quietly made to a supposedly slashed budget. Reliable estimates for the next fiscal year starting July 1 show that with bonus payments, federal expenditures may reach $8,500,000,000—the largest figure since the depression started. Moreover, there are grounds for fear that the relief appropriation of $1,500,000,000 may be increased after next January if the manufacturing industry does not as it hardly can absorb the unemployed.

It is rumored Mr. Roosevelt may bring a reshampened economy ax back from his Florida fishing trip. Skeptics will have to be convinced. So far the ax has made much noise, but cut little wood.

The Squeeze.

Long ago it was foreseen there would develop an intense issue over the cause of recovery with a recovery administration claiming all the credit and its opponents denying any credit as due. The issue has developed.

Spokesmen for the new deal assert the country can and must be grateful to the Roosevelt administration for improved conditions. Immediately upon being contradicted they scurry to discover whether or not the speculative enterprise is better off than it was in 1933. If it is they proclaim him a hypocrite and a backbiter. Supposedly that squelches him.

Some rugged individualists don't squelch easily. There is for instance Alfred P. Sloan Jr. president of General Motors Corp. Mr. Sloan has issued just recently a report to the corporation's stockholders. In it he records a distinct improvement of the motor car business and predicts an even more promising future.

But Mr. Sloan holds things could be vastly better at present and would be much more encouraging in the future if the deadening hand of statistjacket government were lifted and the principle of free enterprise restored in the United States. No doubt the new dealers are annoyed but when a man admits things are better while insisting they could be improved even more the customary new deal attack on his sincerity falls flat. Mr. Sloan who records the governmental squeeze despite the fact his interests are standing up against it and making some money, is going to be a hard man to dispose of by ridicule.

Propaganda in Art.

Time after time the Democrats have demonstrated their ability to make hay while the weather is good. Lavishly they have dispersed federal funds for public works and incidentally have spread the gospel of good will. The peculiar allotment of subsidies under the soil conservation program is one example. Then there are WPA theater projects.

First came the New York WPA satire "Triple A Plowed Under" the presentation of which evoked clashes between the rights and the lefts. Apparently federal money was nourishing a play which gave prominence to Earl Browder and his communistic cause.

Up in Cleveland the WPA projects in histrionics has produced a series of living newspaper sketches in which events of the day are treated vividly. Reports suggest the sketches are well produced spirited and authentic. But it may not be without significance that Al Smith and Gov. Talmadge are among those satirized while Sen. Robinson, administration defender and the leader of the recent New York elevator strike are drawn with heroic strokes.

Quite believably these sketches are written by WPA men not politicians. Quite believably purposeful Democrats did not imagine the plots. Quite believably the sketches sounded a note which was in tune with the Roosseveltian chorus march by accident. Quite demonstrably on the other hand federal money if willingly or otherwise helping the good cause. The purist concept of art as a human expression beyond the taint of propaganda might be after all a better choice for WPA actors and dramatists.

It is charged by some that Governor Landon balanced the Kansas budget with federal money. We are glad to learn that some federal money was put to a good use.—Atchinson Globe.

Utility Holding Co. Case Significant

Refusal of Supreme Court in Declining To Hear Burco Action Not Great New Deal Victory After All

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1936 by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, April 1.—What the supreme court did this week in refusing to hear the Burco case involving constitutionality of the public utility holding company act carries with it considerable significance.

The headlines called it a new deal victory. To the extent that the department of justice asked that the case be not heard and the court agreed may it be said to be anything of that kind. Actually the district court and the circuit court of appeals declared the holding company law was invalid as applied to this particular litigation and since the department of justice did not ask for any reversal of that judgment the decision of the lower courts stand.

As a matter of fact the department of justice was not directly concerned with the merits of the so-called Burco case at all, being content to state on behalf of the securities and exchange commission that the constitutional question was not clearly and adequately presented and that in another case now in the district court there would be a better opportunity for a consideration of all the constitutional questions.

The supreme court did not disclose its reasons for refusing to go any further with the Burco case but it may be presumed that the court does not wish to decide the question of constitutionality of any law unless the matter has been adequately argued in the lower courts and unless the government's side has been fully presented. Certainly it would have created a controversy of a very unhappy kind if a law as important as the public utility holding company act were to be declared invalid while the government contended it had not had a chance to argue the case through the lower courts.

But it is to be noted that the government could have appeared in the Burco case and could have argued the merits of the constitutional question. As a matter of fact all those new deal supporters who have been saying that American constitutional system is too slow or that advisory opinions ought to be rendered or that enormous economic loss is caused by the slow process of the judiciary have now been stripped of their argument. For while the Burco case may not be exactly to the taste of the SEC it did afford a basis for a quick test if the new deal really wanted a test.

The reasons why the new deal delays a test on constitutionality cannot be determined accurately, of course, but judging by talk in new deal circles the plain inference is that the longer the big cases can be delayed the greater are the chances of Mr. Roosevelt having a supreme court favorable to his viewpoint either through possible vacancies or through the application of the oft-repeated but mistaken theory that President follows the election returns.

The test now chosen by the new deal on the validity of the holding company law is still in the district court and attempts are being made to agree on stipulations of fact. The chances are that the case will not be argued till late spring and a decision may not be available till the summer. Then the matter will be taken to the circuit court of appeals and possibly all of next autumn and winter will be consumed on it.

Meanwhile the big utility industry is required to wait till its rights are determined, large refinancing operations are delayed, and construction activities that would give work to many unemployed are held back.

The layman will wonder why the new deal objected to the hearing of the Burco case in the supreme court at this time or why the government refused to defend the act in the lower courts though invited to do so. Set apart from the particular facts cited in the Burco case by the reorganization proceedings of a utility holding company, the supposition naturally is that any opportunity to go before the supreme court of the United States to argue the constitutionality of an important law would have been welcomed no matter how the case got into the lower court in the first instance.

The water company agreed to launch at once a $300,000 extension and improvement program including a $150,000 water softening plant. The city was to have soft water in two years and until that time the minimum rate to individual consumers was to be $14 a year. For the next eight years following completion of the water softening system the rate was to be $18 a year.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Treasury bookkeepers took out their green ink bottles at the end of the quarter-year and computed their federal debt at approximately $31,500,000,000. (They generally use green for the debt. Continuous use of red is hard on the eyes. Also the contrast imparts some appropriate Christmas spirit to the books the year round.)

More meticulous unofficial bookkeepers on the outside used blue ink on the same day and got an entirely different total. They computed the debt at $30,000,000,000 a boost upward of $1,500,000,000.

The disparity lies in the fact that the treasury book artists apparently have been keeping in invisible ink the rising total of obligations fully guaranteed by the United States.

In Bottom Corner

A line on this uncalculated portion of the debt may be found in the Federal Reserve bulletin for March if you have a magnifying glass. The line is down at the bottom corner of Page 170.

It shows the continuous growth in importance of the obligations of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corp. and the Home Owners Loan Corp., both of which are fully guaranteed by the treasury as to principal and interest. Not a month has passed since these activities started which failed to record an increase in their outstanding obligations.

The last official totals are for January. These show the total of FFMC obligations to be $1,400,000,000, HOLC $2,000,000,000 and RFC at $251,000,000. (This comparatively small RFC sum is the portion of RFC debt not included in the treasury's public debt figures.)

This grand unaccounted addition to the debt totals $4,546,000,000 as of that date. It is probably around $4,800,000,000 by now.

Careful accountants also would probably include some of the unaccounted federal land bank bonds and some of the intermediate credit bank debentures although most of the $2,000,000,000 of land bank bonds were issued before the depression. The credit bank debentures amount to a paltry $30,000,000.

If the government were a corporation it would be required by law to include these figures in its debt totals. The securities and exchange commission would indict anyone thus attempting to minimize his true debt condition.

The logical excuse offered by the treasury is that these guaranteed obligations are backed dollar for dollar by something (mortgages, bank stock or whatever the particular agencies have taken in as collateral).

The fact is they are backed all right but no one has the slightest idea whether the government is going to come out of it dollar for dollar. It will suffer some losses but if it accepted true depression valuations on collateral it should also have made some excellent investments.

Meanwhile, the books show nothing.

Order

Behind the voice of Senate Leader Robinson assailed against costly flood control proposals was an order from President Roosevelt. The President expressed it confidentially in a letter to chairmen of the congressional appropriations committees.

A Democratic senator called the White House the other day asking permission to make the letter public. The reply was: My reasons not that letter. The reason is that the President expressed in it strong opposition to certain specific pending bills including flood control.

You may make a note now that there will be no major flood control legislation at this session. A few surveys may be authorized to appease certain localities but nothing else.

Eased

A private understanding has been reached by congressional leaders and the White House whereby the President will tap the relief bill for the $600,000,000 or $700,000,000 to carry on the CCC work demanded by congressmen. Government experts estimate that it will require that much money to keep all the camps and maintain the CCC at 350,000 men. (The congressmen do not care much about the men. They want to keep the camps because in them lies political prestige and patronage.)

This will ease the budgetary consciences of all just as the seed loan relief tapping did.

Rejected

Best lawyers reject the popular theory that the supreme court's sticktacking of the utility holding companies case affords any hint that the court will uphold the act. They reason that if the court intended to uphold the act the Burco case would have been suitable. But if the court doubts the constitutionality of the act it would have demanded a better case which it did.

Cutting Expenses

The supreme court is one government agency which says it is economizing. Most of its marble staircases were barred to the public the other day. The excuse offered by guards was that the court could not employ enough charwomen to wash them.

New York Notes

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, April 2.—There are evenings for escapists to watch the extraordinary sunsets from Inspiration Point that upsweep of Riverside Drive near Medical Center. The Jersey palisade rising sheer from the sparkling Hudson are never so lovely as now. A fading Joseph's coat.

Famed painters are there to catch it on canvas and photographers on film. Sentimentalists till several blocks of parked cars. Washington Irving devoted an essay to this miracle of a closing day and Andre Maurois called it the most entrancing sight in America next to the Grand Canyon.

It's winter's farewell, the season of changing colors along the palisades. One moment they catch the sullen blood red of the swollen sun then as though in hideous suppuration the pasty yellow of anguish and finally with sudden shift evening dies in a sort of exquisite purple pang.

Scatters of stars twinkle forth cold and gleaming. A fairyland of lights zig-zag over an amusement park to flutter petals of gold. River craft suggests darting fireflies. And the light string Washington Bridge etches its feathery tracing against a distant solitude of blue.

* * *

One wonders from what melancholy minds seep so many and drab plays this season. Every theme told frustration. If there were a Book of Common Sense it should say on Page 1: Amusement demands more brains than instruction. No propaganda or didactic play ever changed the current of human thought. Not one ever had the significance of Uncle Tom's Cabin. Black Beauty or The Jungle. Every person who has been through the mill of playgoing knows these self evident truths: that plays should be entertaining, provide humor and reek with women.

One of the tragedies of the theater to many is the comparative obscurity of Henrietta Crossman the most scintillating actress of her time expressing the true champagne sparkle. She lost much of her fortune and acquired black disencouragement in hicking Pilgrim's Progress. So bruised was she by this drop that she never seemed interested in climbing up again. Today she is playing grandmother roles in pictures—and turning her head from the camera most of the time.

The double talk insanity continues to spread its confusion. It consists in interpolating meaningless words and phrases into what is otherwise ordinary conversation. Such made ups as mittendilten abusquam enterio pulax etc. So artfully is it spoken that the unsuspecting listener thinks he is going goofy. Rube Goldberg is an expert. So is Francis Maddux of the torch chanteuses. I have heard of several reputedly responsible for originating it. Among them Ring Lardner, Noel Coward and Cole Porter. It sounds thoroughly Lardnerian.

Thingumabobs. Pulling down the Ponciana in Palm Beach has almost vanquished the bicycle roller chairs. Victor Hugo was made ill by taste of cherries. Herb Roth swore off formal evening dress nine years ago and has kept the oath. Robert Edeson used to haze playwrights by having someone sandpaper a rough board in the next room when a play was being read. Charles Francis Coe is an expert landing sailfish. No matter how much Katharine Hepburn disguises herself in public her raspy voice is a give away.

When Dean Cornwell the illustrator was journeying to Florida recently with some fellow artists a dashing young blonde approached to explain she was interested in art. Flood Helpful in One Way

Emphasizes Need of Protecting Farm Land.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 2.—As distressing and devastating as was the recent great flood in the east probably nothing could have happened that fits in more perfectly with efforts now being made to launch the administration's new farm plan.

As it has soil conservation as its basic principle the tragedy afforded those charged with putting the plan into operation opportunity to point with telling force at what can happen in the wake of soil erosion and denuded farm lands.

One of the most striking things brought out in debate in senate and house on an agricultural program to take the place of the invalidated AAA was the skepticism among members of congress on the question of soil conservation.

It was alternately ridiculed held up as merely a makeshift proposition to get around the supreme court's decision on AAA and assailed as a "typical brain trust" scheme.

Administrators of the new farm program have lost no time in pointing to the disastrous flood in support of their contention that soil conservation is among the most important problems facing the country today. And they are being heard by a large audience.

Saved CCC Camps

The same flood too is being credited by many here as having a great deal to do with the decision of President Roosevelt to rescind his recently issued executive order which would have closed 700 CCC camps on April 1.

CCC officials estimate that in the neighborhood of 25,000 members of the corps were pressed into rescue and renovating work during the period of the flood. Many came from between 200 and 250 of the 700 camps which would have been closed April 1 by the President's order.

Others factors enter into the President's decision to rescind his order of course. A rebellion among members of the house who were insistent that the CCC camps be continued in their districts had its effect.

No one denies however that the work the CCC boys did during the period of the flood and the urgent need for their services in the task of rehabilitation had something to do with Mr. Roosevelt's decision.

About Florida Celery

That shipment of celery to members of the senate who voted against the Florida ship canal authorization continues to provide chuckles galore in senate cloakrooms.

The latest explanation why celery was chosen as the commodity to express appreciation for the senators' votes is that fresh water in large quantities is necessary for celery culture. Those opposing the canal have contended it would ruin the fresh supply with salt water.

One senator had served the Florida celery at dinner in his home before he realized the origin of the gift. He immediately ordered the remainder packed in a crate and sent to a Washington hospital.

It was good celery too he says.

Chagrined

Members of the special committee set up by the senate to investigate governmental agencies with a view to consolidation or outright abolition expressed chagrin privately at President Roosevelt's move to conduct his own inquiry.

It came as no surprise to them. Several days in advance they were informed of the White House's intentions.

There was nothing they could do about it. Mr. Roosevelt simply put on his famous smile said that as far back as last October he had contemplated doing such a thing, and that was all there was to it.

Byrd at Disadvantage

The President's decision to set up his own research committee and his recommendation that Speaker Byrns do the same in the house, puts the senate group headed by Byrd of Virginia to several disadvantages.

In the first place two members of the President's committee had been counted on by Byrd for assistance in his investigation. They are Brownlow of Washington, chairman and Luther Gulick of New York. That leaves him with only the assistance of the Brookings Institution an economic research organization although there have been suggestions that Lewis Douglas former director of the budget, and Comptroller General McCarl might help.

Also while there has been no intimation how much money the President's committee will have at its disposal the chances that it will be more than the senate voted the Byrd committee. Byrd asked for $50,000 but the senate whittled it down to $20,000.

Then too so far as is known no restrictions as to secrecy have been clamped down on the President's committee. Presumably strict White House supervision will be exercised until after the November elections on its findings and recommendations. Byrd however had to agree with administration leaders that he would proceed behind closed doors until after the campaign before he was able to secure adoption of his resolution.

No Consolidation Here.

If Speaker Byrns follows the President's suggestion and appoints a house committee to study governmental organization there will be three separate investigations going on.

While the President has urged cooperation between his own and the congressional investigators there is a disposition among the latter—particularly the Byrd committee—to go its own way. Byrd himself is anxious to have his committee delve into the question of governmental organization thoroughly, submit as strong a report as possible to the senate and then fight the question to the bitter end in congress.

LARGE AUDIENCES ENJOY HARDING SENIORS' PLAY

Cast Gives Outstanding Performance in Annual Class Stage Production, 'The Novel Princess.'

BY HALLIE HOUCK

The first important event on the Harding High school senior class graduating calendar was presentation of the class play The Novel Princess a romantic comedy written by Allen Evans Burns yesterday on the stage of the Ohio theater

Last night more than 700 patrons viewed Miss Lucile Foreman's 1936 addition to her long line of successful productions and in the afternoon the audience was nearly as large

The cast was headed by blond Gwendolyn Mouser as Sonia, Princess of Danzibar and the novel princess' to boot and Jack Mark with who played a dual role of the reigning prince of a nearby powerful kingdom and also Paul Archer a tourist

Light comedy romance was the keynote of the play and a musical comedy romantic atmosphere was emphasized in the glittering silver backdrop used in the three acts The play was of a different type than has been selected for presentation for half a score of years and the pleasure of the audience was proof of the directors foresight Too many of the Broadway successes of the last several years have been of a nature unsuited to be selected for the 1936 high school play and in turning to so called high class Miss Foreman found a truly delightful vehicle which met with her high standards and also proved entirely satisfactory for high school actors and actresses and to their parents friends and patrons of Miss Foreman's plays

Colorful Settings

Not in several years has the scope of the school's vocational and household arts departments been brought into the prominence evidenced in the settings and costumes of The Novel Princess Color ran riot in the costumes of the peasants and officials of the two kingdoms and the second act setting of an inn in the Graustarkian atmosphere of Danzibar was of professional quality

Faced with a marriage of state arranged by her parents the lovely princess fled from the palace and with her lady in waiting went about disguised as a seller of souvenirs She fell in love with Archer a tourist who had in the meantime become innocently involved with a pretty American girl whose mother was set on the daughter's bringing home a title Things looked black for the princess and her tourist friend especially when the girl was persuaded by her parents to go through with the royal marriage Rebelling at every step she finally consented and—to the joy of unsuspecting patrons who had not seen the act in rehearsal previously discovered that her future husband was the tourist

Comedy was injected by the American mother whose social ambition carried her to ridiculous extremes the American book salesman who went a wooing the American girl the girl's father whose sole interest in his trip abroad was a complete camera story of his travels to show the Rotary club back home and the various minor characters whose roles were outstanding among them the innkeeper whose woes and joys were of an equally violent tempo

The first act was laid in the princess bedroom the second act as already noted was in the court yard of the inn and the third act transpired in a hall of the Danzibar palace on the day of the wedding Eight bridesmaids in rose yellow green and violet organdy were a bright spot of color in the last act

HEARINGS ON CANAL NEARLY COMPLETE

Foes To Finish Testifying Then Rebuttal Will Be Heard by Washington Board

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON April 2 — An army engineers board neared the end today of a public hearing for turning decision on whether to recommend the proposed $163 000 000 freight canal between Lake Erie and the Ohio river

The waterway has been approved by the army's district and division engineers but the board has the last say Its preliminary attitude was expressed in the hearing oil which said it was not convinced of the economic justification for the huge expenditure involved

Indications were opponents of the project would complete their presentations today and rebuttal testimony by the proponents would conclude the proceedings now in their fourth day

Among the final opposition witnesses were W I B Haines Pittsburgh economist and Ray Kern of Columbus Ohio rate expert

The engineers heard the canal described variously in the last three days as unsound foolhardy an absolute guarantee against floods and the salvation of Ohio's steel centers from industrial strangulation

A warning that the canal would result in 11 500 railroad workers losing their jobs came from Arthur J Lovell who said he spoke for 21 railroad labor brotherhoods

SECTION OF MARION HIT BY 'GAS ATTACK'

a wreck crew placed the car back on the tracks

Erie officials said they made every effort to keep the spilled gasoline from running over the surrounding territory and into the sewers by throwing up a hastily constructed dam Director Ruth said however that he thought some of the gasoline must have gone into the George and Silver street sewer line

This belief was supported by the fact that all complaints of gasoline fumes in basements came from along the route of this sewer

No Damage

No damage resulted from the fume filled basements Director Ruth said Service department employes who answered the calls instructed the residents to open basement windows and plug all basement drains With this precaution he said there would be little danger of explosions

Yesterday afternoon manhole covers along the sewer were removed to allow the fumes to pass away and some sections of the line were flushed Director Ruth said The situation was believed to have been cleared up yesterday afternoon as no reports were made to the service department after 4 p m

PAYMENTS TO FARMERS MAY REACH $12 AN ACRE

Soil Conservation Would Yield $10 and Building Up Practice an Additional $1 to $5

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O April 2—Ohio farmers heard a prediction today that average payments under a new $500 000 000 soil conservation program would run as high as $12 to $13 an acre

Participants in the program would receive a flat average payment of $10 an acre for shifting land from soil-depleting to soil-conserving crops and between $1 and $5 an acre for engaging in soil building practices

H C Ramsower, director of Ohio State university's agricultural extension and agricultural adjustment administration chief for Ohio estimated the average payments on the basis of rates set by the AAA for the north central region which includes Ohio

The payments were designed as a substitute for benefits made under the agricultural adjustment act which was held invalid by a U S supreme court decision

Numerous county educational meetings were held throughout Ohio this week to explain the program to farmers and to elect community and township officers to organize cooperation

Ramsower said the first report of farmer reaction to the program coming from Wayne county was very good

Discussing possibilities of the program Ramsower said

Good or poor alike over a long period of years will bring Ohio farmers certain returns of health for looking farms and better crops all around The pastures will look greener the wheat heavier the corn bigger some yellow clay hillsides darker

It's a matter of years of course Ten years will make a lot of difference but full results will take 15 to 20

Previously announced plans call for two types of payments—soil conserving based on proven yields of land shifted from depleting to conserving crops and soil building The maximum a farmer may receive for all land in soil building crops this year will be $1 an acre

However payments for soil building practices in the region will range from $1 an acre for planting some kinds of clover to $5 an acre for planting trees on crop land between Jan 1, and Sept 30, 1936.

Explaining an official said a participating farmer with a total of 100 acres in soil-conserving and soil building crops would receive $100 If he had 10 acres planted in trees this year he would receive $50 for the 10 acres.

REV. DODD GIVES PRE-EASTER TALK

Is Today's Speaker at Morning Service of High School Groups.

One hundred and twenty persons attended the pre Easter service held this morning at the First Presbyterian church under auspices of the Girl Reserves and Hi Y clubs in cooperation with the Y M C A Rev James O Dodd of the Central Christian church was guest speaker His subject was The Spiritual Side of the Abundant Life

The last of the services will be conducted Friday at 7 45 a m when Common Pleas Judge Hector S Young president of the Y M C A board will speak on The All Round or Balanced Life The service will be open to the public

Mary Ann Young was leader of this morning's meeting

The world has tried to get rid of Jesus in two ways first by crucifying Him in His own day and today through worship Rev Dodd said He averred that today people place Jesus on a high altar and sing praises to Him but forget the real spiritual qualities the moral commands without which worship becomes a mere form There is extreme danger he said in perfunctorily singing and praying just something to be done to be doing something

To live one's life abundantly in the spiritual sense we must follow out the things Jesus would have us do Rev Dodd declared We can attain and reproduce the abundant life that Jesus talked about and lived In worshipping Jesus in Being the abundant life from the spiritual standpoint we should think more in terms of living than in mere words of flattery Only small things and small characters are moved by flattery Jesus was too big to be flattered and is too big to be flattered now

RECOVERY LED BY INDUSTRIALS

General Motors and U. S. Steel Among Issues Making Gains of 3 or More Points.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 2—The stock market resumed its recovery push today with industrials pointing the way upward for gains of fractions to 3 or more points

Many issues, including General Motors and U S Steel reached new high territory for the past five years or longer

Among the popular shares around the start of the fourth hour were Chrysler Bethlehem Allied Chemical Westinghouse Johnsmanville International Cement, Sears Roebuck Montgomery Ward Western Union Bendix Standard Oil of New Jersey Santa Fe New York Central Union Pacific and Northern Pacific

While commodities were mixed bonds improved Foreign currencies were heavy in terms of the dollar during the greater part of the session

While the upward trend of domestic industry heartened traders there were still some doubts as to the solution of European financial problems

Early estimates of freight car loadings in the current quarter place the probable total at about 95 per cent above the actual figure in the same 1935 month

The French franc at the start of foreign exchange transaction was off 00% of a cent at 6.60 cents and sterling was 1-cent easier at $4.95⅞
